

Mike Sasso

Security Researcher & Developer

I am a first-semester graduate student at Johns Hopkins University studying software and security. I build defensive tooling, automate incident response, and I am currently learning modern software concepts in Python. This site will grow with every project I complete throughout the course.

Projects

Module 1 - Personal Website (Flask)

A personal developer website built with Flask, HTML, and CSS. It uses an application factory and a blueprint to serve a home page, a contact page, and this projects page, sharing one navigation bar that highlights the active tab.
